So sorry to hear of Christine's passing. I've only known her a few years but she was always fun to work with and talk with. She made me laugh so much. She will be missed. Julie McCay

I was there for Lauren's birth. I was there for your wedding. I'm sorry I've been absent for 20 years but my love has never been absent. I'm sorry you're gone before I got to apologize for some things. I will never forget our good times and our laughter and crazy antics. CLOSE THAT WINDOW, ROB ZOMBIE!! I've missed you more than you ever knew. And I always will. R.I.P. --Adrienne

Ohh Christine, you've known me my whole life. You and my sister were best friends all while I was growing up. You had a contagious laugh and would give your last nickel to anyone who needed it.. even if you needed it more. There is nothing more that I can say other than what has been written above- it was very well written. We always talked about scrapbooking, all the pieces you've collected along the way throughout your time here on earth and how you wanted to put it all together in a scrapbook. Oh and all the concerts you went to! will help my sister build your scrapbook. My all time favorite memory would be when you'd dance to "any which way" by twisted sisters and you told me you used to dance in roller skates with an 8 track player all while moving around in your chair telling the story. I can still see it now. rest easy. I'll do my best to keep my sister in line (although we both know that's a job of two or three) you will be missed!!

I remember her telling me about you Matt. Were the one who bought her an orange juice when you first met? She came home with the biggest smile that day.

We had so many adventures together. Had a beautiful daughter together. Learned so much about the world together. Such a good hearted and fun loving person. So many people will miss your smile.

I remember the day I met Christine... her first day at a new school. That can be a hard day. One of the girls told her- "you can be friends with Becky,..." hehe, I can still remember watching Cujo at your house!! oh sweet Christine, sad we lost touch over the years. Grateful our paths crossed. Praying over all of you as you move forward.

Christine was one of the nicest people I've ever met. She was always sincere in everything she did. She would sit with you for hours and just talk. Always making people smile and laugh. There is nobody on earth as genuine as she was. I didn't get to spend much time with her but the time we did have I'm lucky for. I'll miss you.

I loved Christine from the moment I met her!

She was 6 yrs. old when her dad and I first got together.

I remember she wanted to call me mom right from the start, but her dad told her to wait because we weren't married yet, but when she and I would go off together by ourselves, she asked if she could call me mom. Of course you can I told her! It will be our little secret!!!

Rest in Peace Christine, you'll always be my daughter.

Hug Shauna for me. Until we meet again someday.....I love you!

Love, Mom
